Re: Heath Kelly Construction

To Whom It May Concern,

I have had the privilege of working with Heath Kelly Construction (HKC) on several projects at both of our campuses at Olive Baptist Church. Heath and his team have done a variety of work for us from a simple room remodel to converting a commercial space over to a space usable for a collegiate ministry and even site work at our Warrington Campus.

HKC prices have always been competitive and his estimates for scope of work have generally come in not just at budget but in some cases even below. Additionally, the timelines for completion of work have been accurate (weather permitting on site work) and if there have been any instances where a deadline will be missed Heath has been very open and honest with the details and works to find the best possible solution for both of us. If there is an issue Heath has always and no doubt will always do what needs to be done to make it right. I have had no reason to ever question the integrity of Heath or any member of his team and I trust that what they tell me and the work they perform will be the highest quality possible.

I have also found that Heath has never offered to bid on a project if he does not believe that he can do the work to the best of his team's ability and within the projected timelines needed. In fact, there have been instances in the past when he was unable to bid a project but was still more than willing to consult with me to provide suggestions and / or alternative solutions for the work Olive needed to have completed.

Are there other options out there to use as a general contractor, yes. Will you find one as trustworthy, honest and dedicated to your project as HKC, probably not. With that being said, HKC will always be part of our bidding process and in most cases will get the work as I know that I don't need to follow up on his team every day.

Sincerely,
